I started my career as a lecturer in 1994. At that time the only motto was to become a good teacher. Alongwith teaching I keep on enhancing my qualification. After working as a teacher for about 14 years when I was offered to join a new University, which had been set up recently under the dynamic leadership of Dr Ashok K Chitkara and Dr Madhu Chitkara, leading educationist of the region, I was elated. After becoming an administrator I have learnt, experienced and observed things that have transformed me from a good teacher to a better administrator. I believe that it is a never ending journey wherein, each passing year teaches me something new and innovative. It encourages me to bring something new to add to the knowledge of students and colleagues. It also gives me the opportunity to effectively express and disseminate the ideas, views and thoughts.

- What are the essentials of becoming a successful leader today?

Strive for excellence, see opportunity in everything, anticipate the unexpected, Innovative, lead to leave a legacy and share momentum with others.

- Your favorite holiday destination and why?

Europe and Kerala because of good weather and scenic beauty.

- Something that you want to change about yourself.

I would like to improve in every facet of my life. No matter how much I may excel at a particular skill or task, I believe I can always get better, and would like an opportunity to gain new experiences that will help me to become better at anything I undertake. I also want to take some time from my schedule to spend it with people staying in orphanage and oldage home.

- Three things you cannot live without,

Blessing of almighty, work, family& friends.

- What interests you the most?

I am a teacher who believes that the teacher is always a learner. Learning new things to improve my teaching and research interests me the most.

- Please tell us something about your family and how does it play a role in your life?

My family is my lifeline that supports me through thick and thin and motivates me to do my best each day
